Review of: "A Security Framework for the Mobile Application Using Color Barcode"

Arsénio Monteiro dos Reis[1]

1 Universidade de Tras-os-Montes e Alto Douro

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper presents a good application of color bar codes for secure access. No particular novelty, though.

The work does not really present a framework, in the sense of a conceptual framework or a software engineering framework. It could be improved by developing a conceptual use case or a software library as the framework base artifact.