The research article has come out very well, with an elaborative introduction and detailed analysis. However, some refinement is required, as per my observation.

1. More clarity is required on the SDGs upon which the authors main focus is.
2. It seems to be a bit lengthy article in terms of discussion and the study area. Authors may need to take out a few things based on the publication requirements.
3. Authors need to clearly mention the number of FGDs and their community size, number of participants, and number of key informant interviews selected from which stakeholder groups.
4. Ensure clear demarcation between the results and discussion, and recommendations and conclusions.
