

Review of: "[Case Report] Ramipril-Induced Angioedema in a Patient With Basal Ganglia Bleed: A Case Report"

Mirela Tiglis

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

It is an interesting case, but more data should be provided about previous reported cases of ramipril-induced angioedema. I also consider that it will be helpful to provide information about other medications used during surgery or in the postoperative period, as it may be a consequence of their interaction or side effects.