

Review of: "Evaluation of Chemical Content and Phytochemical Composition of Yemeni Almond Cultivars"

Ila Shukla¹

¹ Dr. A.P.J. Abdul Kalam Technical University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Review comments for the given article are as follows:

1. The given article has explored the medicinal as well as economic importance of the almond cultivars. In my view, a little more thorough analysis regarding the effects of these cultivars on pest and disease management, genetic contamination, and environmental impact may make this article finer.
2. Language used in this article is fair, but slight corrections like the repetition of a single word in the same sentence three times don't seem good.