Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper can also benefit by adding/changing the following:

1. How does it advance the understanding of representation of gender by discussing it in the context of other children's comics? Appropriate literature should be cited in this.
2. Sources should be placed contextually. For instance, when did this series start? From which period? By which author/publisher? Is it then talking about an earlier period? What is the need to study it now?
3. Some arguments would be more compelling if they were made sharper and clearer with additional elaboration. For example, in section 5.
4. Also, for section 6, there is no evidence of interpretation of commutation tests, except for what the author tells us.
5. The Conclusion section is absent.
