

Review of: "Perceptions and Challenges of Online Group Work Among Emirati Female Undergraduates"

Syed Nasir Alsagoff¹

¹ National Defence University of Malaysia

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

32 is too small for a meaningful survey.

Comprehensive tools are used for the analysis.

Are the groups consisting of only females? The paper didn't mention if the university is co-ed. Are the female groups by choice?

The importance of online group work in the post-COVID world, where online work is the norm rather than the exception, is significant.

"Participants' ages ranged between 21 to 46 years with a mean age of (M= 22.06, SD= 5.048)". 46-year-old undergraduate?

Samples should be from the same year, as different years might have different perceptions of online work. Senior students who did online work during the peak COVID period, where it was necessary, might have different perceptions of online work compared to newer students in the post-COVID world, where it is not necessary.