

Review of: "Evaluation of Chemical Content and Phytochemical Composition of Yemeni Almond Cultivars"

Rasha Fouad

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

- The manuscript is very good and the work is respectable, but it needs a simple linguistic revision.
- The statistical analysis must be placed in the tables to link the results together and to ease the discussion of the results.
- It is better to write the cultivar names in the same form in both text and tables. It is preferable to write them in English, as there are some names written in Arabic pronunciation by English letters.
