The provided article is clearly presented. Its technical quality deserves to be accepted but should include some recent references like: <https://doi.org/10.1007/s41207-024-00548-6> and other recent citations to make your provided work more important and less repetitive. Also, the abstract should be more clearly stated because I can't find the aim of the work, which lets us more be interesting to read your work.
