Review of: "Bank Customer Churn Prediction Using SMOTE: A Comparative Analysis"

Bikash Sarkar[1]

1 Birla Institute of Technology, Mesra

Potential competing interests: The topic is interesting and important for society. However, I have few comments - Why SMOTE? Is the dataset imbalanced? If so, which one is the dominated class? The GA part is not convincing. Why GA for feature selection, since only 12 features are in the dataset? In such a case, heuristic search is not required. The crossover strategy and the fitness function are not clearly stated.

The topic is interesting and important for society. However, I have a few comments - Why SMOTE? Is the dataset imbalanced? If so, which one is the dominated class? The GA part is not convincing. Why GA for feature selection, since only 12 features are in the dataset? In such a case, heuristic search is not required. The crossover strategy and the fitness function are not clearly stated.