

Review of: "Proposal to Explain the Cause of Long COVID Based on the Concept of Host Factor Variants"

Shantanu Prakash¹

¹ King George's Medical University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The study addresses an important scientific issue, but there is no clear indication of the type of article. The manuscript does not clearly distinguish whether it is a review or a research article, which should be explained more thoroughly. If this is intended to be a review, additional details on host factors should be included. Otherwise, the data should be presented more comprehensively. Major corrections are needed.