

Review of: "Improving Documentation Quality and Patient Interaction with AI: A Tool for Transforming Medical Records — An Experience Report"

Pramod Meher<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> C. V. Raman College of Engineering

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The work would be useful. Authors just show its advantage. Now it looks like a business report for the advertisement of a product. The authors must describe how the proposed system is implemented, with all details so that the reader can develop and enhance the system. As of now, this paper has no value. It should not be published in this form. It could be published only if the authors resubmit with the details of the implementation of the proposed system. Authors also should discuss similar studies and compare with those.

-