Dear Authors,

Thank you for the opportunity given to me to review your study. This study looks good and highlights the importance of the research to the scientific community. However, I have some comments.

Under your methodology, please kindly give a brief description of your study area. Which study sample technique did you use? What was your sample size, and how did you calculate your sample size? Please kindly provide your ethical approval form and consent form. Also, what were the limitations of this study?

Under your results, please kindly make tables for the socio-demographic characteristics of the respondents and state your findings. Please remove grid lines from the charts.

Under your discussion, please kindly compare your findings with previous studies in Pakistan and other countries across the globe, state the similarities and differences, public health implications, and likely reasons.
