

Review of: "Statistical Implicative Analysis of Students' Algebra Performance"

Djamal Berbiche<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Université de Sherbrooke

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article is well written. Well-reported graphs and tables. The relations are well measured, although there is no level of significance to be able to see which associations are significant or not. Were there any differences between respondents with missing data and those who answered?