

Review of: "Nigeria's Implementation of the Sustainable Development Goals"

Syed Rahman

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This article discusses both positive and negative aspects of the SDGs implementing process in Nigeria, presenting the facts in a way so that the reader can understand what is happening in Nigeria and what could be done to improve the agenda's goals. Results and conclusion parts are okay. The article is publishable with some minor corrections.

The abstract should reflect the entire theme of the article, introduce the title, include the main message of the methodology, results, discussions, recommendations, and, most importantly, present key findings and key arguments of the article. What is the key contribution of this article to the literature, or the key take-away for readers?

While the methodology section is very concise, sections 4 and 5 include excessive explanations.
