Thank you for your trust in me. I have reviewed this paper carefully. This article reported on "Quantum Jumps" and Their Effects on the Photo Whitening Technique. This paper provided some valuable information. The point of publishing papers is to widespread knowledge on how to reproduce or advance certain experiments. To do that, one would need to be able to compare the results they obtain by their characterization methods, so I would highly recommend you expand the characterization section by providing more detail. Overall, the English of the manuscript needs to be double-checked carefully. Of course, there are also many similar errors in this manuscript, and I will not list them in detail.
