

Review of: "Acceptance of Childhood Rotavirus Vaccine Among Mothers at The Point of Rotavirus Vaccine Introduction: A case study from Awka Anambra State Nigeria"

Asma Nasim¹

¹ Sindh Institute of Urology and Transplantation

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

No further changes required. The study, although it caters to highly educated people with higher socioeconomic conditions, is useful for local data. I would suggest doing studies on lower socioeconomic strata with lower education levels to assess their vaccine uptake.