Dear authors,

This study aimed to evaluate ambient air quality levels at various locations within Lead City University, Ibadan. In general, this manuscript is well written. However, revisions are required based on the following concerns:

1. The logic of the current introduction should be revised. I suggest organizing the Introduction section in the following order: importance and meanings, previous studies (literature review), the gaps of previous studies, and the objectives of this study.
2. Please provide a brief, up-to-date state-of-the-art of this research.
3. What is the research hypothesis?
4. What is the research gap in your research compared with previous research?
